

Dear Parents,

I wanted to let you know about an exciting opportunity to learn about saving for college and to help provide resources for our classroom. So much of what I do in the classroom is to make sure that your child has a bright future. You also work to prepare for their future success, and saving for college is one of the things that should be part of your plan.

The State of Tennessee Treasury Department's TNStars College Savings 529 Program helps families save and prepare for future college costs for their children.

TNStars is awarding Anderson County and Clinton City Schools with money to use for classroom supplies! All we have to do is help spread the news about the importance of saving for college and the unique benefits available through 529 plans by visiting the program website and completing their interactive guide about college savings.

What I'd love for you to do is go to www.tnstars.com and take the FREE interactive guide! For every parent (only one per child) that completes the interactive guide, $10 will be awarded to the Anderson County/Clinton City Schools Education Foundation. There will be no obligation to sign up for the plan. It is easy to navigate, and should only take around 15 minutes to complete.

Please feel to visit the site and complete the interactive guide. The deadline for the promotion is December 31, 2013, so please complete it before then.

Thanks so much for your help. I think that the guide is a great tool and that this is a wonderful opportunity to improve our classroom and to prepare for your child's future!

Sincerely,
